Global Mobility: Open to opportunities within Türkiye and internationally.

Driving growth in TravelTech and tourism distribution through partnerships and market expansion.

I operate at the intersection of tourism, technology, and distribution ecosystems, focusing on business development, commercial growth, and strategic partnership building across TravelTech and hospitality environments.

Throughout my career, I have contributed to scalable growth initiatives within OTA, DMC and accommodation distribution landscapes, supporting platform-led ecosystems that connect suppliers, intermediaries, and end markets. My experience spans B2B, B2C, B2E and B2G segments, allowing me to navigate diverse commercial dynamics and develop partnership models aligned with evolving market needs.

I bring hands-on expertise in TravelTech infrastructure and connectivity-driven distribution, including API/XML integrations, web onboarding processes, and ecosystem performance optimization. Familiarity with extranet environments, channel management tools, PMS platforms, and digital distribution solutions enables me to translate operational realities into commercially viable growth strategies.

Across roles and initiatives, I have worked closely with global bedbanks, OTAs, marketplaces, hotel groups, independent accommodation providers, and third-party suppliers, building trusted relationships and strengthening contracting frameworks that support long-term partner value creation. In parallel, my DMC background has provided strong operational depth across incoming services, group travel, and customized travel solutions.

I am particularly motivated by environments where commercial strategy, platform capabilities, and market expansion intersect — creating opportunities to scale distribution networks, unlock new revenue streams, and enhance ecosystem collaboration. Recognized for initiating growth-oriented projects, maintaining resilient stakeholder relationships, and adapting across international contexts, I aim to contribute to organizations seeking clarity, ownership, and measurable outcomes.

Always open to connecting with professionals and organizations exploring TravelTech innovation, distribution strategy, partnership development, and international market expansion.
